"We use NewSat for broadband and Internet connectivity and have established a very effective business alliance to deliver these services. We needed broadband services for over 500 sites across the country. NewSat have delivered against all their commitments and promises and managed the delivery in a very complex environment."

Hugh Gregory, Director – Department of Defence Cadet Policy Branch

NewSat has the experience to engineer the most efficient, cost-effective solution, tailored to your specific environment.

NewSat is a member of the Defence Recognised Supplier Scheme (DRSS). As a holder of the DRSS logo NewSat is recognised as a trusted and reliable supplier of services to the Australian Defence Force. Defence and military operations require mission critical, trustworthy communications, with guaranteed up-time and performance in difficult terrain, temporary sites and war zones. NewSat's secure and reliable satellite services meet the demanding requirements of the armed forces around the world. The Adelaide Teleport is one of only a few US Military Accredited Global Access Points, which means NewSat is able to meet the stringent security criteria required for US military operations. NewSat provides secure, end-to-end mission critical services to defence, ensuring the depth and expertise essential for high-pressured defence environments.
